Easy, free height adjustment
at the press of a button

Alternately standing and sitting gets the circulation going and relaxes the spine. This primarily helps with preventing back problems for office staff.

This also applies to classrooms, where the table can be quickly adapted to the different body sizes of students - sometimes a few inches make all the difference. However, the use of the table in classrooms makes particular sense if students already have back problems.

If there is a counter-force during height adjustment, the drive will stop for safety reasons.

Controller for individual height adjustment at the touch of a button, as well as up to 3 storable heights using the memory function.
