- Easy access from all sides to optimise work environment

PRESSALIT®

Easy operation gives comfort to users and carers

User-friendliness is key and helps ensure the feeling of comfort and security for the person lying on the table as well as for the person working around it.

The ergonomically designed safety rails add to the user's sense of security and psychological well-being. The safety rails can be raised and lowered with just one hand enabling the carer to maintain physical contact with the person lying down. Also, the foldable safety rails provide access from all four sides of the table.
